

The network for research on Learning and Interaction (FOLI)

Scientific leader: Roger Säljö

Coordinator: Ann-Charlotte Eklund

This network collect reserachers and doctoral students with interests in learning and interaction. The network functions as a recurrent place for discussions about ongoing research and thesis work within the educational field.

The aim is to pursue a national activity where senior and junior researchers and doctoral students with interests in the study of learning and interaction i pedagogical settings get together regularly for discussions and analyses of work in progress. All groups present share an interest in research on learning and communication in school and other educational settings.

Participants represent University College of Borås, University of Gävle, University of Gothenburg, University of Kalmar, Kristianstad University, Linköping University, Malmö University, Mid Sweden University, Stockholm University, Uppsala University, University West och Örebro University.